Energy Magazine™ would love to hear your comments!

Greetings

from Cynthia Hutchison
Healing Touch Program Director

Dear Readers,

Welcome to our 4th Anniversary Issue of Energy Magazine! It is hard for me to believe, but we are now entering the fifth year of publishing Energy Magazine. We are also busy with our Annual Worldwide Conference preparations which will take place in Denver August 5th – 8th (click here) where we will be celebrating HTP's 21st year! Twenty one years represents, at a developmental level, our Adulthood. Janet Mentgen, our founder, created a strong and energetically vibrant foundation with the HTP standard curriculum which has worldwide recognition. Carrying her legacy forward to a new level of organizational maturity and recognition, we are lovingly and confidently taking HTP into the future and expanding our horizons beyond the circles of our HTP communities.

As an example of our forward movement and growth, HTP is fostering and creating professional affiliations with other like organizations whose goal it is to move energy medicine into the future as a legitimate, reimbursable field of holistic health care. Healing Touch Program was the first certificate program of the American Holistic Nurses Association in 1990. Since the mid 1990's HTP has also been endorsed by the Canadian Holistic Nurses Association. We have professional affiliations with Healing Touch for Animals (HTA) and the Institute of Spiritual Healing and Aromatherapy (ISHA) and together our three organizations are cosponsoring the Healing Touch Worldwide Conference.

We will have booths at three conferences this month - the American Holistic Nurses' Association (AHNA), the Association for Comprehensive Energy Psychology (ACEP) and the International Society for the Study of Subtle Energy and Energy Medicine (ISSSEEM). In addition, HTP will be represented at the Watson Caring Science Institute International Conference in Hiroshima next May - to continue building the Asian-Pacific community that is very interested in Healing Touch at the academic and social level.

Sharon Robbins, Executive Director of HT Professional Association, will play a key role in meeting with leaders in Energy Medicine and energy medicine educational programs at this June's ISSSEEM conference in Westminster, Colorado. The time is right for energy medicine programs that are standardized and have reputations for excellence to band together to advance the field of energy medicine into the future; to work toward insurance reimbursement and to have lobbyists representing us at the state and federal levels to support both our qualified practitioners and the patients/clients who want to receive energy medicine as part of their health care.

With national accreditation getting closer for HTP and our expanded accreditation with the American Nurses' Credentialing Center (ANCC), we are positioned in a pivotal place to make an even greater impact in national health care and we continue to strengthen holistic modalities worldwide.

Don't miss reading the articles in this issue of Energy Magazine which will inspire you in your HT practice and in considering how you can help Healing Touch to grow in your communities. Lisa Mentgen Gordon, Cindy Dale, Rob Ivker and Lauri Pointer's articles in particular are addressing the current and future potential of how Healing Touch changes lives and impacts our society, our health care system, our profession of Energy Medicine and the lives of our clients and their families. Perhaps the greatest personal reward is how those of us who have stepped into the shoes of being a Healing Touch Practitioner have grown personally and professionally.

Hoping to see you or meet you at our Worldwide Conference!

Joyfully,

Cynthia

Announcements & Letters

Congratulations to Aleida Drozdowicz, HTCP/I, HN-BC

Congratulations to Aleida who teaches Levels 1 and 2 for HTP in Florida. She became Board Certified in Holistic Nursing through AHNA in November 2009. Recently at the AHNA 30th Annual Conference in Colorado Springs, CO (June 3rd-6th), she was awarded the Charlotte McGuire Scholarship for pursuing her graduate education-BSN-PhD in Holistic Nursing at Florida Atlantic University (FAU), Boca Raton, Florida, an honor just awarded to one AHNA nurse per year at the graduate level. "I am excited about pursuing my graduate education in holistic nursing. I feel honored to have been chosen to receive the Charlotte McGuire Scholarship and look forward to utilizing and implementing the knowledge I obtain toward making a difference in the healthcare system and to help promote Healing Touch Program."

As part of the Nurses Week Celebration, the Tucson Nurse Week Foundation held its annual Conference and Health Fair May 7, 2010. As part of the Health Fair, our local Healing Touch Program (HTP) group had a booth with materials, the Introduction to Healing Touch DVD and offered mini chair treatments. There were close to five hundred attendees including presenters and vendors at this event.

I first began by doing a mini chair treatment on my husband, John to give people an idea of why we were there. By the end of the day we did over 60 chair treatments using techniques such as: Magnetic Passes: Hands in Motion and Hands Still, as well as, Pain Drain, Ultrasound and Mind Clearing. It was amazing to see the changes in expressions and demeanor as they received treatments -- relaxed with many smiles. I think "stress" was the primary complaint I heard -- head, neck, and shoulders. We also donated two HT treatments that were raffled along with other vendors' donations.

We missed Barb Hart our local Healing Touch Certified Instructor, who was unable to attend, but I thank her for encouraging us to do this. Thank you to the HTP folks in San Antonio for your support and for the many volunteers that took time from their busy schedule to help. It was fun and not only a great experience, but also a great opportunity to spread the word and the work of Healing Touch in Tucson.

You are a living magnet.
What you attract into your life is in harmony with your dominant thoughts.

Healing Touch: A Path to Higher Level Wellness

by Lauri Pointer, HTCP/I

Higher level wellness is more than an absence of symptoms. It includes vitality, a joy of living, and a feeling of self-worth. These are all qualities that are present when our life force energy is flowing vibrantly and radiantly. Healing Touch is an integrative energy based therapy with a goal of doing just that -- increasing the flow of energy through the body to facilitate the conditions for optimal health and well-being. These non-invasive techniques utilize the hands to clear, energize, and balance the human and environmental energy fields, thus affecting physical, mental, emotional and spiritual health and healing.

Our bodies are phenomenal communicators that let us know when something is out of balance energetically. Symptoms in the body- such as headaches, colds, insomnia, lethargy, depression, and fatigue - appear when our flow of energy is compromised. All kinds of situations can effect our energy flow - environmental toxins, stress, lack of exercise, lack of sleep, poor nutrition, etc. When the flow of energy is compromised, the overall vibration of the energy is lower. When our vibration is lower, symptoms begin to appear. Conversely, when we clear the blockages through a Healing Touch treatment, the overall vibration is higher and when the vibration is higher it is impossible for symptoms to remain in the body.

If we think of a wellness wheel, consisting of spokes that represent all the categories of health such as physical, mental, emotional, spiritual, social, and environmental, very often, if we can simply improve our situation in one of those categories, we begin to see improvement in all of them. The better we feel, the more inspired we are to take good care of ourselves. If we keep our vibration high through regular Healing Touch treatments, we begin to crave healthier, higher vibration foods, our bodies naturally crave more water, we are drawn to other people with higher vibrations, we spend time in places with higher vibration, we partake in activities that keep our vibration high such as exercise, time in nature, and reading that is inspiring. We begin to attract to us more opportunities for experiencing joy and abundance and a feeling of being excited to get up in the morning. Waking up happy and excited for your life is a great sign of higher level wellness!

Our energy system consists of three parts: The biofield (aura), the chakras (energy centers) and the meridians (energy tracts throughout the body). Our energy biofield is considered to be the blueprint for the physical body, meaning it holds the template for how our physical body is building and repairing. Symptoms appear in the energy field before they are noticed on a physical level. With Healing Touch, we can approach health preventatively by clearing the symptoms from the field before they have a chance to manifest on the physical level. We call Healing Touch a “subtle energy” therapy. Indeed, it is subtle and we can fine-tune our subtle awareness to this energy by practicing Healing Touch. The more we learn about our own energy, the more effectively we can recognize when something is out of balance BEFORE it has a chance to take hold as a physical symptom.

Every single human being is created to be able to flow energy - to ourselves and to others. It is a skill, and just like any other skill, your ability to do it improves with practice. Your subtle awareness of your own energy also improves with practice. Take a powerful step toward higher level wellness by learning about energy medicine and Healing Touch today!

Book Review:

Healing Touch Guidebook Practicing the Art and Science of Human Caring

by Dorothea Hover-Kramer, Ed.D., RN, D.CEP

by Dr. Robert S. Ivker, DO, ABIHM, FAAFP, HTCP

What a wonderful tribute to the legacy of Janet Mentgen, the founder of Healing Touch (HT). This book takes the reader on an inspiring twenty-year journey from Janet's initial vision, to the creation, naming, and early development of this remarkable energy healing art and science - to the current state of the art Healing Touch Program (HTP). I felt the author's pride and triumph as she reported in 2009 there were more than 700 HTP classes taught. Currently there are more than 3000 practitioners certified in the original HTP curriculum.

Dorothea was instrumental in both launching and teaching HT from its inception in 1989. As a result of her close professional and personal relationship with Janet, she has had an unobstructed view of the origins of Healing Touch and the psyche of this dedicated, humble healer who was recognized in 1988 by the American Holistic Nurses Association as Holistic Nurse of the Year. From the author's unique perspective she is able to state unequivocally that despite the phenomenal growth of HT, the standard curriculum of the HTP remains consistent with the intention and vision of the original collegial group who participated with Janet Mentgen in co-creating this beautiful, professional, and effective program of hands-on healing. To me, this statement supports the book's credibility as the authoritative reference for Healing Touch.

As a certified practitioner, I felt re-inspired after reading the book. I found it to be comprehensive, clearly written, well organized, and highly instructive for both practitioners and neophytes. I liked the way the author established the basis for Healing Touch within Energy Healing. In the scientifically-focused world of health care, this is an especially challenging subject to present. I have personally struggled for years in teaching this vitally important topic to my medical colleagues. The chapter on HT Research strongly reinforces the science of Energy Healing. I think she has done an excellent job in clearly and concisely presenting what I strongly believe will soon become the foundation of twenty-first century health care, what integrative holistic physicians are calling energy medicine.

The chapter on the applications of HT throughout the life cycle was well done. The value of her many excellent contributing authors is obvious throughout the book, which is replete with client/patient stories.

For anyone who is not familiar with Healing Touch, the presentation of HT practices is quite thorough. At the same time, I thought it also provided the practitioner with a brief but adequate overview of Levels One through Five. However, the greatest benefit for the practitioner lies in the last section of the book – the ongoing development of the Healing Touch practitioner. Far more than technique, this is the most critical component of HT practice -- healing oneself.

Dorothea, a visionary in her own right, has a good grasp of the bigger picture and how health care is evolving. I think she is accurate in her assessment of how Healing Touch will complement integrative health care, and in her projection of the extent of public recognition. Although I am in complete agreement with her vision of the future for HT, it was thrilling for me to connect with this kindred soul through her book and realize that we shared a similar vision.

As a Guidebook to the energy healing modality of Healing Touch, this book sets the standard. As both an historical and visionary reference on the integration of HT into 21st century health care -- it is inspirational. For me, what most distinguishes this work of art and science, are the success stories of people whose lives have been transformed through Healing Touch. I am proud to be a Healing Touch practitioner. The power of Healing Touch and its increasing impact on changing the face of health care lies in its simplicity and efficacy. Pure and simple-- it works! Thank you Dr. Dorothea Hover-Kramer for elegantly conveying that message.

A HEALING TOUCH CLASS IN A BAR?

I thought that might get your attention and yes, it's true, but I will tell you more about that in a bit. First, I want to thank Sharon Robbins for asking me to submit an elder article for Energy Magazine. It has given me a chance to walk down memory lane and share some of those memories. As a nurse in Indiana, I had attended several American Holistic Nurses Association conferences and had taken Therapeutic Touch classes. When Janet Mentgen was named Holistic Nurse of the year in 1988, her enthusiasm was contagious and I became hooked.

In the early days, Janet worked out of her home, packing handouts and heavy books about energy medicine, preparing for each class she would teach. She carried these books in her suitcases and physically hauled them to her classes. Good thing that was in the days before they started charging for luggage. Janet travelled many weekends of her life while starting a movement of healers and friends and doing this all by the seat of her pants as she developed the curriculum we have today. In the beginning we took classes as we could - sometimes out of the current order. Janet was getting the information to as many of us as she could in an effort to develop as many instructors for the program as she could. Many of us, who are now elders, were in the same Level 4 class in Arkansas. Janet was developing the class as she taught it.

This article, by one of our Elder Council Members, is sponsored by Healing Touch Program and Healing Touch Professional Association. We are especially happy to bring these stories to you as part of our 20th year celebration of Healing Touch Program. Our HT Community is rich with practitioners and instructors who were with Janet Mentgen when she created her Healing Touch Program. Many remain active today - all have experiences and stories that contribute to our "Healing Touch Historical Roots."

HTP and HTPA have joined together to develop the historical stories of Janet Mentgen's Healing Touch Program by documenting the memories and experiences of those that were in the first classes, attended the first gatherings, witnessed the early growth and held the Vision with Janet. They supported her and blazed the trail with & for her and for those who came later. These individuals are the Elders. Note: Because each Elder story is a unique personal memory back in time, we recognize the potential challenge of accuracy; we appreciate, accept and will publish corrections if needed.

Many of you know that, for Janet, Healing Touch was all about service and in the early days, she mentored hundreds without any financial gain. She often prayed for guidance to follow students wherever they were. As she taught classes, she put a lot of her earnings right back into the program.

Another thing I would like to share with you about Janet, she could be very playful and was known for the many different hats she would wear. Some hats were unusual, some she bought and some were gifts. She often arrived for class in one of her hats.

Now to return to the bar story. In April of 1991, Janet had a Healing Touch Level 1 class scheduled at a lodge in the mountains outside of Las Vegas, Nevada. At the time I was living in Tucson, Arizona. I drove to the lodge with Lynne, a friend of mine, who was going to attend the class and I was going to be a teaching assistant. We arrived early to get things set up for the class. Someone else was to meet Janet at the airport and drive her to the lodge. This particular day the weather was snowy, making the mountains quite picturesque.

After arriving at the lodge, we learned that an error in scheduling had occurred and that the meeting room for our class was not available for that Friday night. At that time all Level 1 classes were Friday evening and all day Saturday and Sunday. We were told that our class could have the use of the bar for that Friday evening. As we walked into the bar, we were surrounded by trophy heads of animals hunted in the area, and met by the pungent smell of alcohol and cigarettes. Other students, some brand new and others re-taking the class began to arrive but no Janet.

Time for the class came and went and still -- no Janet. We did not know what was happening with her as those were the days before cell phones. We decided to get the barroom ready by dragging tables out of the way and moving the bulky bar chairs into a circle -- trying to create a sacred space. Still, no Janet. So, what would Janet want us to do? We decided to get started with introductions, so each person had a turn holding the talking stick and told his or her story of what led them to this class. It was kind of funny sitting in that atmosphere, telling our stories, dead animal heads on the wall and all.

We were in the middle of introductions when Janet arrived - having been delayed by the snowstorm. She walked into the bar and as was her fashion, took the situation in stride. She had us finish the introductions and get to work. We were able to create a safe, sacred space in this bar and do what is now called Magnetic Passes Hands in Motion and Hands Still. Fortunately, the following two days we were able to hold our class in a regular meeting room.

Janet Mentgen changed many lives, mine included, and her legacy lives on - continuing to affect lives all over the world. I am grateful for all of the sacrifices that she and her family made and which her family continues to make in order to "do the work" and give us a world with more healing.

A Spiritual and Energetically-Based Model Supporting the Practice of Healing Touch

By Lucia Thornton, RN, MSN, AHN-BC

The Model of Whole-Person Caring™ (WPC) is a spiritual, holistic and interdisciplinary model that serves as a guide for healthcare personnel and offers healing touch practitioners a framework for practice. This model is derived from theorists in the fields of nursing, physics, and systems theory and was developed to assist healthcare organizations in creating a healing and nurturing environment for consumers and healthcare personnel. It provides a common frame of reference so that people from various disciplines and also various cultural backgrounds can work together to provide quality care and compassionate service. Moreover, it redefines who we are in a way that supports the practice of Healing Touch in hospitals and healthcare organizations.

REDEFINING WHO WE ARE

Defining who we are is the first step in establishing a model of care. The Model of Whole-Person Caring™ uses nurse theorists Florence Nightingale, Martha Rogers and Jean Watson to redefine who we are. Florence Nightingale stated, “We are a reflection of the divine, with physical, metaphysical, and intellectual attributes.” Martha Rogers saw each person as an “irreducible, indivisible, pandimensional energy field that is open and infinite in nature, and inseparable from the environment.” Jean Watson, a contemporary nurse theorist, states, “We are sacred beings [and] we must regard ourselves and others with deepest respect, dignity, mystery, and awe.”

The definition for “person” within the context of the WPC Model is an amalgamation of these concepts and states that each person is: “An energy field that is infinite and spiritual in essence and in continual mutual process with the environment. Each person manifests unique physical, mental, emotional, and social patterns that are interrelated, inseparable, and continually evolving.”

CONCEPT OF WHOLE-PERSON

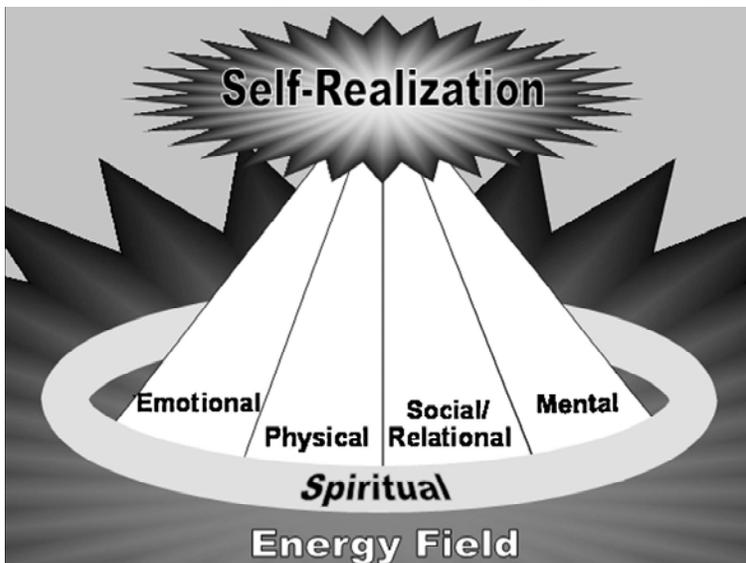

The metaphor of a diamond is used to describe who we are. In the Model of Whole-Person Caring the Energy Field is considered to be the first field of the “manifest” universe. It is from this field that all of material existence emerges. Each of us comes from this field and at this primordial level all of existence is “one.”

The first manifestation of who we are and the foundation of our being is our Spiritual Self. Unlike other models that view the spiritual as an “aspect” of our being this model purports that the “foundation” of our being is Spiritual. As Teilhard de Chardin has said, “We are not physical beings having a spiritual experience; we are spiritual beings having a physical experience.”

Arising from this Spiritual foundation is the Spiritual Self which is the essence of who we are. Some may refer to this essence as our Soul. This Self, with a capital “S” cannot be seen in the diagram but is hidden beneath our various aspects and is our closest experience and is inseparable from the divine and infinite energy field. This Self is clothed in the various aspects of our existence: our physical, emotional, social/relational and mental selves. Like a diamond each of these aspects is interrelated and inseparable.

When we begin to access and acknowledge our Spiritual Self then this spiritual essence becomes integrated into each of the facets of our lives and gently transforms us. We begin to realize and understand the sacred and infinite nature of our being and move toward Self-realization.

KEY CONCEPTS AND BENEFITS

These key concepts serve as the foundation of the model and the associated programs that have been developed to promote healing at both an individual and organizational level:

- Sacredness of being.
- Self-care and self-healing.
- Optimal health and well-being.
- Therapeutic partnering.
- Transformational leadership.
- Caring as sacred practice.

The implementation of the model in hospitals has resulted in improved patient/client satisfaction, increased employee satisfaction and retention, increased health and vitality of participants, improvement in workplace morale, enhanced communication and teamwork, and considerable cost savings for hospitals. The Model has received numerous awards including the Norman Cousins Award, Professional Excellence in Healthcare Leadership Award, Innovation in the Workplace Award, and recognition from the Nursing Executive Center of the Advisory Board and the Samueli Institute.

SUPPORTING THE PRACTICE OF HEALING TOUCH

What is exciting about this model is that it is the first and only interdisciplinary model that acknowledges who we are as “fields of energy.” As such, it serves as a very useful framework for the practice of energy-based therapies. The current bio-medical model cannot explain the phenomena associated with energy healing since it is limited to bio-mechanical laws. This model provides a framework for explaining energy healing and supports the practice of energy-based therapies as credible and essential in the healthcare setting.

The model stands on the shoulders of Florence Nightingale, Martha Rogers and Jean Watson - highly regarded nurse theorists whose concepts have been repeatedly supported by numerous masters theses and doctoral dissertations. In addition, being interdisciplinary, the Model creates a common ground of practice for all healers – whether practicing as nurses, physicians, lay-people, administrators, therapists, educators etc. Therapeutic partnerships exist among all caregivers and clients and each member is regarded with mutual respect, value, courtesy and compassion.

Caring is regarded as “sacred practice” and both the client and the practitioner are enriched when actions arise from caring and unconditional love. As we begin to see existence as “sacred,” the way we treat ourselves and each other dramatically changes. Our interactions, work and relationships begin to arise from a place of deep regard and reverence. This is when true healing begins to occur.

Returning to Healing Touch Beginnings: Joining AHNA's 30th Conference

by Lisa Gordon, CEO Healing Touch Program

I had the great pleasure of attending the 30th annual American Holistic Nurse's Association (AHNA) Conference this past weekend in Colorado Springs, Colorado. It felt extremely important to attend and represent Healing Touch Program (HTP) at this event because of the connection we have had to AHNA since 1988 and the beginnings of Healing Touch being so supported by AHNA. Our HT Program was AHNA's first endorsed certificate program! I was thrilled to share Healing Touch Program with around 500 conference participants, many who were familiar HT friends or had taken their classes with Janet Mentgen, our founder, and with those who were just being introduced to this program and the field of Energy Medicine.

I managed the HTP exhibit with the help of several volunteers: Janna Moll, HTCP/I, Joy Heartsong, HTCP/I, Kay DuBois, HTCP and Ginny Altmeyer, HTP Apprentice. Trying to show the full extent of our curriculum and support materials, our six foot booth was packed. Our booth included: the standardized curricular notebooks from Levels 1-6, Advanced Practice curricular notebooks, the HT Presentations Notebook, the Healing Touch Children's book, the new Healing Touch Guidebook text (for which we sold many copies), three levels of Technique Review Cards, program brochures, practitioner brochures, Healing Touch Professional Association (HTPA) membership brochures and the professional liability insurance forms. The favorite item that we brought was our new Healing Touch Energy Balls that we used to attract people to the table by demonstrating how energy flows through the body and lights up the ball.

Cynthia Hutchison, Healing Touch Program Director, also attended the conference and answered many questions about Healing Touch and the program. We received numerous inquiries about how Healing Touch is different from Reiki, how to get the program started in a healthcare facility and how to re-enter the program after not taking a Healing Touch class in a long time. In addition, we both had many rewarding networking discussions and opportunities with other practitioners and programs.

I am delighted to congratulate Dr. Jean Watson, Ph.D. RN, who received the AHNA Holistic Nurse of the Year award. The Holistic Nurse of the Year (HNY) award is presented annually at the AHNA conference to recognize outstanding achievement in the field of holistic nursing. Since 1983, when the award started, five Healing Touch nurses have received this award. They include (1988) Janet Mentgen, (1992) Linda Smith, (1994) Rita Kluny, (1997) Mildred Freel, and (2002) Vicki Slater. Dr Jean Watson, who is part of HTP's Advisory Board, and who has been a great advocate of Healing Touch Program, is now a member of this group of distinguished nurses.

In addition, I was overjoyed that Aleida Drozdowicz, HTCP/I, HN-BC, one of our Healing Touch Program instructors, received the AHNA Charlotte McGuire Scholarship. This scholarship is granted annually to AHNA members who are pursuing undergraduate or graduate professional education. Aleida is pursuing her graduate education-BSN-PhD in Holistic Nursing at Florida Atlantic University (FAU), Boca Raton, Florida. Congratulations Aleida!!

Among the many inspiring presentations, a few were given by Healing Touch Program instructors, practitioners and supporters. They were: (1) "Finding the 'Collective Genius' Among Holistic Nurses: Focused Dialogue" by Rumi Hashimoto MSN, RN, HTCP/I and Katrina Shibata, MPH, CHES and (2) "Stepping Stones: Achieving an Integrative Healthcare Framework" and (3) Education, Practice & Research by Lourdes Lorenz RN, MSN-IH, AHN-BC, Denise Anthes RN, BSN, MBA, HTCP/I, HN-BC, Sandra Barkei RN, BSN, HTCP, HN-BC, and Kat Knihnicki Yarboro RN, BSN, PhD, ThD, HN-BC. Lourdes is the Nurse Director of Integrative Medicine at Mission Hospital, which was featured in Energy Magazine over this last year in a series of three articles about how they are committed to their nurses being Healing Touch Practitioners and are providing HTP education to all the nurses who want to become HT Practitioners.

Additionally, Janet Quinn's, PhD, RN, FAAN, PhD, keynote for the AHNA conference was entitled "Habitats for Healing: Tending the Garden of Mind Body and Spirit." She defined creating a healing habitat as "sustaining nurses and putting patients in the best condition for nature to act upon them." Janet believes sustaining nurses will help solve the nursing shortage and improve patient care. Janet Quinn, who has been teaching telecourses for HTP on "Touching Body: Tending Soul" this last year, will also be a keynote at the Healing Touch Program Worldwide Conference being held in Denver on August 5 - 8, 2010.

It was very exciting to be a part of AHNA's 30th conference, to be present to spread Healing Touch as well as to catch up with countless HT students, practitioners and instructors at this event. It is easy to see that Healing Touch is a significant part of AHNA, historically as well as the in the number of AHNA members that are Healing Touch participants. The relationship between AHNA and Healing Touch Program will continue to support and grow both organizations. I am proud of all that we have accomplished and excited about what the future holds for the Healing Touch Community and the Holistic Nursing Community.

Combining Modalities to Relieve Fibromyalgia

by Timothy P. McConville, HTCP/I

In July of 2009, I attended the Cleansing Flow™ Workshop developed by Healing Crucible™. Cleansing Flow™ is an energy healing modality targeted specifically to treat fibromyalgia, with applications for other health issues. This modality is being taught to practitioners with the idea that it can be combined with their modalities.

The results I have experienced in using Cleansing Flow™ with my foundation of Healing Touch have been very promising. I have worked with a number of clients who have fibromyalgia and other autoimmune diseases. Previously I have gotten mixed results with these diseases -- always a positive benefit, but never completely satisfactory. When including Cleansing Flow during a treatment session, I still spend over half of the time applying Healing Touch techniques.

Michael Rocheford was guided to create this modality based on the idea that the root cause of fibromyalgia is at the cellular level of the body. The cells have lost their ability to cleanse themselves causing blockages all over the body. In order to restore the body's natural energy flow, the body must be reeducated at the cellular level. This work gets to the root of the problem, reeducating the cellular memory on how to cleanse itself. This is accomplished using a sequence of energy based techniques and intention - much like the work we do in Healing Touch. The techniques are primarily hands-on or movements just above the body - designed to activate and move energy. Part of the work, involves breaking up the stores of toxins and getting them moving to be treated. Our Healing Touch techniques are wonderful for that portion of the work. One of the real beauties of this work is that it is firmly rooted in self-care. Susan, the other co-founder of Healing Crucible™, herself a fibromyalgia sufferer, was guided to develop this portion of the program. At the second session, the client is taught how to use the technique and is instructed to spend 10-15 minutes daily with the homework. After six weekly sessions they should be able to manage the disease if they continue to do self-care.

Following my weekend training, I decided to take on two pro bono test cases to verify the validity of my new knowledge. Here are summaries of these two cases.

#1 - 55 year old male with fibromyalgia. The diagnosis was made two years ago, but he has been suffering since middle school years. Pain has been constant for years and since he experienced pain daily, his physical activity was quite limited. His pain at our first meeting was a level 6 out of 10. In the succeeding weeks the number of good days increased and the frequency of pain diminished. The pockets of debris became smaller and fewer and overall muscle tension was improved each week.

After the 3rd week he found that most of the days he had pain were the result of doing things that he had previously not done, in a sense overdoing physical things because he felt so good. I have not seen him since his 6th weekly visit (the typical time-frame in this program for the client to be on his own) and he reports that he continues to improve and is virtually pain free. He is confident he has the skills to continue on his own and will stay with the self-care work. He no longer dreads climbing stairs and has now started an exercise program to become more physically fit. He is very pleased with the work and considers it a wonderful gift.

#2 - 55 year old female with lupus and primary biliary cirrhosis. The Lupus diagnosis was made within the last year. The liver diagnosis was more recent and initially thought to be autoimmune hepatitis when we started, but was changed to cirrhosis during the treatment interval. Primary biliary cirrhosis is an autoimmune disease with supposedly no known cure and a dire prognosis. The client's pain had been up and down for months.

The pain level at our first meeting was 0/10, although it had been as high as 8/10 a week earlier. Good days fluctuated in the first couple of weeks, but by week four almost all her pain was gone.

An interesting “coincidence” happened after week two. I had talked to her about the idea of finding a way to shift medication if the treatments worked. That afternoon her doctor said he was unsure of the liver diagnosis and stopped her use of the immune suppressant that she was previously taking, giving her a four week window with no drugs. She has noted that she is feeling much better physically and to her surprise she has found the self-healing work to be spiritual and quieting in a way she had not previously experienced. She continues to do the self-care work and now reports that after two months she continues to be pain free and her liver enzymes are completely normal.

I am very pleased with the results I have seen with Cleansing Flow™ and find that it wonderfully melds with my Healing Touch skills to expand my capacity to serve. I am using it on additional clients and readily encourage other practitioners to explore this option. Currently, the Cleansing Flow™ Workshops are only taught in the Minneapolis area, but may be expanded where there is an interest in classes.

Essential Energy with Cyndi Dale

CELEBRATION! For A World Full of Love

It is wonderful, to be around someone who loves birthdays. Children especially delight in reaching the next stage, assigning a magical power to the flip of the calendar. Case in point, my youngest son Gabe turned eleven in December, yet when asked how old he is, he answers this:

“I’m turning thirteen.”

Explaining the discrepancy between his “real age” and “preferred age,” he states, “I’m close enough to being a teenager, and I certainly act like one already.”

Even if we do not like “getting on,” it is certainly better than the alternative. Besides, every birthday or anniversary is an opportunity to erase the old and call in the new. Why not throw a party, eat an entire chocolate cake, or revel in the super excitement of what is to come?

This month, we are celebrating the anniversary of Healing Touch. WOW! What is it like for Healing Touch Program to be in it’s 21st year of achievement and vitality? For what are you going to wish, when blowing out the candles?

I am going to answer these questions in a unique way - by playing the Fairy Godmother. No, not the nasty one that crashed Sleeping Beauty’s birthing ceremony and dumped her into years of depressive nightmares. I would rather fashion myself on Cinderella’s winged sponsor, as she not only granted wishes, but dreamed her protégé into an incredible future. My observation of Healing Touch, as well as, my wish for it, is that it be celebrated as the movement that it is. Yes, Healing Touch is a group. It’s an organization. It’s a protocol, a philosophy, and a teaching. But it’s much, much more than that, and deserves to be recognized as such. It is also a movement.

Healing Touch Program is a group, and a great one. Groups are important. At any given time, each of us belongs to hundreds of them. There are ethnic, family, and friendship groups. There are groups we like and groups we do not like. Groups that exist and groups we long to join. (I have applied for card-carrying privileges to the group that grows money on trees, but I am continually rejected.) To qualify as a movement, however, a group’s central idea has to affect more than its member constituents or the people circling the outside hub. Unlike a mere group, a movement transforms those who do not even know the group exists.

As a movement, Healing Touch curves around corners, moves through walls, and bends minds. Its practitioners grasp stars and deliver them to earth. Its mere existence invites grace and light into lives everywhere, even into the hearts of those who have never heard of Healing Touch Program; even into the souls who have no hope of healing. You see, Healing Touch is about shared love and it is the giving of love that heals. The most powerful calling on this planet is to share love, for the slightest offering yields enormous results. Once started, love lights the world like strings of dynamite. There is simply no stopping it.

Love cannot be contained. If it were, it would not be love. It cannot be destroyed or it would not enable healing. A single group, organization, religion, institution, or paradigm cannot own love, but it can be spread love amongst them all. In that Healing Touch Program teaches, demonstrates, and upholds the sharing of love, it moves everyone toward healing, not only the relative few who participate in or through it.

As a practitioner, you know that your life has been changed for the better because of Healing Touch. You have given love, and now, you probably could not discontinue if you wanted to. Once a person starts sharing love, he or she cannot quit. We are not light bulbs that glow only if plugged into a socket. We do not burn out from the beaming of our light. In fact, the more love we give, the brighter we become. The more we give and the more brilliant our love -- the more empowered the healings.

Love is, quite simply, something that can never be reduced. It can only expand. It can only advance, never retreat; catch, not sputter. Shift one person and everyone else with whom he or she connects is also transformed. Believe in love and there will be increased reasons to believe in love. Count your blessings and more appear.

So now I am taking out my magic wand and maybe a big box of Kleenex. For what would I wish? What future might I foretell for Healing Touch Program? How about following in the footsteps of a few other enormous greats and, quite simply, change the world?

As Buddha said, "There's a different way." Those who believed created it.

As Amelia Earhart said, "We can fly higher and longer." Those who opened their wings did.

As Martin Luther King Jr. said, "I have a dream." He did. Those who dreamed along with him, made it real.

As Healing Touch says, there is love. To share it is to become it. Perhaps one day, we will each become this love, and the entirety of the world will be healed.

Healing Vs Cure

by Navroz J. Sunderji, HTCP, Healing Touch Instructor

Cure – by definition means to eradicate – to get rid of – and as much as we would like to believe in a cure, in reality, this is extremely rare! As integrated beings we are body, mind, emotion, and spirit. Hence, any effort that is solely directed to the body will superficially repair the damage and will rarely lead to a cure. The reason being that the cause is still operative and may at any time demonstrate its presence in another form.

Healing – “Healing comes from the root word “whole” -- to be one.

Webster’s first definition of the word to heal is, “to make sound or whole”.

Wholeness occurs when body, mind, emotion and spirit come together in syncopation - creating a balance, which is the essence of true healing.

How do we define “disease” or “illness”?

Disease emerges, as a realization that particular energy expressed by the illness is either lacking or is not integrated in the consciousness of the individual’s life. When the element of consciousness is acknowledged and activated, the disease leaves and the individual is freed. In other words illness is a disharmony in the organizing patterns of the body.

Healing is basically a process of re-organizing and reintegration of these patterns of the body.

In general, the principle of healing is the realization that the restoration of health is both permissive and active.

In addition, healing is concerned with addressing relationship issues be they with oneself, work, business, others, or the environment. The individual needs to re-evaluate his/her relationship to the issues involved in a personal healing process and set them into a new context. It requires the individual to be in a state of awareness.

Healing, in its essence is an adventure in self-discovery.

The act of healing is in fact, an act of empowerment. It is a personal journey, a rite of passage designed by the individual. It is a path that bestows untold benefits merely by walking upon its soil.

Healing requires a change of mind, a change of emotions, as well as, any necessary physical changes.

Healing is not a linear process. It is cyclical and is affected by the issues that arise at each stage, which then have to be addressed in order for the healing process to continue.

Healing is NOT about outcome but rather about who the individual becomes in the process. It is a spiritual opportunity for awakening. A journey for which one is unprepared because it catapults him/her into a place that may be unfamiliar, disorienting and that may seem to be beyond hope of recovery.

The path of healing is not back from where one has come, but it is the beginning of a new cycle in life. Though one moves through the cycle from illness to health, one does not return to where one began, but moves forward to a place of new potential. The person who arrives at the destination is not the one who departed.

In conclusion, healing leads to rebirth and a creation of new life that requires forgiveness of both oneself and others.

Healing

The process of psychotherapy, then, can be defined simply as forgiveness, for no healing can be anything else. The unforgiving are sick, believing they are unforgiven. The hanging-on to guilt, its hugging-close and sheltering, its loving protection and alert defense, -- all this is but the grim refusal to forgive. Healing occurs as a patient begins to hear the dirge he sings, and questions its validity. Until he hears it. He cannot understand that it is he who sings it to himself. To hear it, is the first step in recovery.

He attended the first HTP Level 6 Instructor training held in Calgary, Alberta Canada last September and is in the process of becoming a Healing Touch Certified Instructor. Our Energy Ball has a New Face!

This dynamic tool for demonstrating how energy flows, now comes in new packaging and with the words “Healing Touch” on the ball.

The Energy Ball is a wonderful tool for demonstrating how energy flows through the body using simple conductivity. Simply touching the two contact points completes the circuit of energy flowing in your body causing the Energy Ball to light up and make a sound.

This demonstration works equally well with a group of people holding hands to form a chain with two individuals each touching one of the contact points to complete the circuit of energy.

Available for only $6 each through the Healing Touch Store.
